Gospel Summary & Question of the Week
Read Sunday’s Gospel, Mk 12:38-44

32nd Sunday in Ordinary Time - Cycle B

Gospel Summary:
In 1 Samuel, God advises the prophet Samuel not to observe as men see but as God sees. He tells him to "look to the heart." This is the movement of this Sunday's Gospel reading. "Beware the scribes," Jesus advises. He points out their public greetings and "seats of honor," which stands in sharp contrast to their private greed. For the Jewish people of Jesus' day, honor resides at the top. Power and prestige created a high profile back then as it still does today. After his warning, Jesus turns his disciples' attention elsewhere: a poor widow, "She, from her poverty, has contributed all she had." While the scribes donated large sums to the temple, they did so "from their surplus wealth." This woman -- in her faith and devotion -- offers "her whole livelihood." Jesus invited his disciples to see with God's eyes, to recognize a holy life in people the world overlooks. Here -- in the poor, the vulnerable, the marginalized -- God waits hidden. Today's Gospel begs a few questions. What do we see? Whom do we value? Are we impressed by the pomp and circumstance of modern day Pharisees? Do we ignore their self-righteousness because it looks impressive, even seems somewhat helpful? The point isn't to judge the scribes, of course. God can see their hearts as well, and those assessments are firmly his responsibility. The point is to turn our eyes from the typically honored to the rarely respected. Are we disinterested in the poverty of the modern day widows? Do we ignore their faith because we forget to look for it? This Sunday, consider the widows in your own life. Who can you see with God's eyes?

Question of the Week:
Have I ever given freely and generously when I have been in need? What am I willing to share with someone else?

Dear Parishioners,

Today we would probably smile, or even laugh at the level of scientific knowledge in the 13th century. It was limited, to be sure, and much of it undone and redone as we have learned about our world in subsequent centuries. Still, this week, on Thursday, the Church honors one of its great scientists, St. Albert the Great. He learned much and then taught well what he learned. He did not see a distinction or separation between the physical, scientific world and the God who created it. He brought his faith and his prayer to his studies and to his students. Thus, even though much scientific knowledge has been learned since, we still turn to Albert for example and intercession, to understand the world around us.

It is a shame, in my humble opinion, that many modern scientists have excluded God from their work. They see faith and science as incompatible. Take, for example, the theories of creation. Was God the author, or was it an accident of nature? The “Big Bang” Theory, while explaining some of our origins, does not, I believe, mean that God didn’t will it to happen, allow it to happen, or bring it into being by Divine touch. Surely, both science and faith can co-exist in this theory as with all of science. Doesn’t it make you wonder, how paltry our knowledge of the world will seem to those who live, say, in the next century, and beyond? How little we know even about our own bodies! How little we know about plant and animal life! How little we know about the mysteries of the universe! I have shared with some of our young people that science would be a most important field of endeavor for them as they seek their calling in life. We need to learn so much more. AND, we need people who will bring their faith into this realm. We see every day the results of those who have separated and removed faith from politics and social studies. We have, in this sense, created a seemingly irreconcilable culture. People can’t agree and get virtually anything done for the common good, so much have we chosen to stake our tents and refuse to compromise. We live with a stalemate created by a faithless culture. If we allow our faith to be part of the public discourse, we would remember the call to be “one,” as it is written in our national slogan, and as Scriptures invite us to use as a lens for our worldview. So, too, with science. The answer to many a puzzle is found in its origins and its completion. For we who are believers, that means our answers our discovered from our faith perspective. But, again, this is true only if we put these mutual gifts to work together. St. Albert the Great, pray for us.

CINNAMON ROLL SALE

A Cinnamon Roll Sale will be held here at Queen of the World the weekend of November 17/18, 2018. Please have orders into the parish office by Wed., Nov. 14th. You won’t want to miss having these delicious rolls for your Thanksgiving Holiday! Workers are needed, if you can help, sign up in the back of church. Thank you in advance!

SPECIAL SCHOOL MASS FOR VETERANS

Tomorrow, Monday, Nov. 12, the ECC Grade School Mass here at QW will be held at 9 am as a special way to honor Veterans. All Veterans are welcome. If you have a child / grandchild at St. Marys Catholic Grade School, please pass on the information to the school if you are attending so they can prepare for their visitors. Today is actually Veterans Day on the calendar, so we say “thanks” to all of you who have served our nation.

PASTORAL COUNCIL

Pastoral Council meets this Tuesday, Nov. 13 at 6:30 pm in the Rectory Meeting Room.

3RD GRADE PARENTS MEETING

Parents of Third Grade Students, that is, those intending to receive First Holy Communion this Spring, have their meeting of preparation this Wednesday, Nov. 14 at 6 pm in Church. All parents are asked to attend. This meeting is not for the children, so, if they need to be there because of logistics, bring things for them to do during this hour.

RCIA

RCIA meets this Thursday, Nov. 15 at 7 pm in the Rectory Meeting Room.

LIFE TEEN RETREAT

Today our Faith Formation Students of Grades 9-10 will be on retreat beginning at 10:30 am. The retreat takes place at St. Boniface Church, Kersey. Please keep them in your prayers, that the Lord will renew them in faith on this special day.

JOB OPPORTUNITY

The St. Marys Catholic Elementary School has always been able to offer an on-site prepared, hot lunch to our students. To ensure that this opportunity remains for our students, we rely on dedicated employees and volunteers. The elementary school is in need of a person to fill the position of Cafeteria Staff worker from 11 am to 1 pm, Monday - Friday. This is a paid position that follows the school calendar. If interested or for more info, contact Kim Schlimm at 834-7800 or by email at: schlimmk@eccss.org.
